Brinton Arrest Sidelight on Campaign Which Gets Poor
Reception

The hop-off in the North Dakota campaign was made quietly this week by J. T. F. O'Connor, fusion ticket candidate for Governor. In a speech at Minot, O'Connor indicated clearly the lines along which he will make a bid for the Governorship.

The speech was made without the blare of trumpets, but is regarded by politicians as especially important in that it points the way in which the campaign will be run. O'Connor avoided harangue and asked the people of the state to calmly consider where they are drifting, and to think out for themselves the problems which they are facing.

O'Connor took the position that the present order of government, founded on the constitution, is fundamentally sound, and that progressive legislation should be enacted with a view of improving the present order of government, and not of tearing it down. He avoided personalities, but went into the merit of legislation which league forces have put into effect and for which great claims have been made. His intent was to show that the legislation had absolutely failed to correct the evils said to exist but in fact had made conditions worse.

Deeper Issues

There are many political observers who believe O'Connor has taken the right stand. They take the view that the clash in North Dakota is between a socialistic government, with complete socialism as the ultimate aim of the real powers of the league; that the league endures through promoting class hatred and class legislation, and that the people of the state must take their choice between turmoil for continued hatred, one-sided legislation or get back on the main road of constitutional government and go ahead.

The Water-Townley bombast, in the opinion of many anti-Townley men, has simply served to cloud the issue. The dramatic action of arresting Brinton for criminal libel is but a bit of political by-play which gives Townley a chance to pose as a martyr, they hold.

The suit started by Jim Waters at Fargo is regarded of more importance. If he can show in a competent court that Townley was engaged in using league funds to promote the Signal trust, while claiming bankruptcy, Townley will be up against a stiff proposition. The suit is not expected to be reported for many months, and will not be a factor in the campaign, though it may have an important bearing on Mr. Townley's future.

LONGSHOREMEN

stration; Ask Admittance
of Bishop Mannix

New York, Aug. 28.—Hostilities were renewed by the longshoremen, who yesterday centered a demonstration in a walkout of 2,000 longshoremen employed on British liners, as a protest against Great Britain's Irish policy.

Women returned to the pier, with a large cohort of longshoremen, crippling British ships, by causing their husbands to join in the walk-out. The longshoremen were on the pier, carrying signs denouncing England's Irish policy. The Irish sympathizers among the longshoremen caught the spirit and started a demonstration, still in progress.

at Open Shop Coal Mine
in West Virginia

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 28.—Major Payne, a Baldwin Phelps detective, was wounded in a fight which started early this morning between striking miners and mine guards at the Willis Branch coal company, W. Va. Branch Raleigh county, according to a statement given out by the state officers.

Two trains have been held up at the town, the crews fearing to take them through Willis Branch, the statement said.

Miner Was Firing

State police are on the scene at attempting to quell the disturbance and have arrested a miner who was firing from a barn, the statement said. The Baldwin Phelps men were doing most of the shooting using automatic rifles, the statement added.

Battles Frequent

A three-hour fight occurred between miners and mine guards at Willis Branch last Saturday. No casualties were reported. In a statement issued at the time A. J. O'Neill, superintendent of the Willis Branch Coal company said the shooting had been going on at frequent intervals about the Willis Branch mine since the company began to employ non-union men last November.

For most part the delegates are of the scientific side and are interested in prohibition and its study as a

New Accounts of Tragedy Published in British Papers Tell of Details of Execution

London, Aug. 28.—All possible doubts that former Emperor Nicholas of Russia and his family were assassinated in the basement of their prison house at Ekaterinburg on the night of July 16, 1918, seemed to be dispelled by the account of two independent investigations which are published here. One is printed by the London Times and was written by its former Petrograd correspondent, Robert Wilton. The other appears in the magazine, "The Century" and is from the pen of Capt. Francis Macmillan, of the British army, who was one of the war and a widely known newspaper correspondent. Both spent several weeks at Ekaterinburg and talked with natives and soldiers who witnessed shooting through windows of the ill-fated ruler. Both writers agree on the important details of the story.

The victims of the massacre, they say, numbered 11, being the former emperor, his wife, son and three daughters, Dr. Akin and three servants. The assassination was arranged by Yurovski, the killer, in charge of the doomed royal family and was carried out by twelve soldiers. The Times account says these men were Letts, but Capt. Macmillan says they were Latvians, who have been placed on duty instead of a Russian guard because the Bolshevik feared a Russian soldier might be trusted for the work. Capt. Macmillan's story says all the doomed party except Nicholas were on their knees making the sign of the cross when Yurovski announced the signal for the murder of Nicholas Romanoff, the bloody and all of his family.

Rewarded for Execution

The former emperor threw his arms out toward his wife, quickly saying something which could not be heard and was then shot down. Then the remainder of the party was shot down with revolvers and later the soldiers bayoneted their bodies.

After the execution they hastened to Moscow to report the details of the affair to Lenin, commander of the Bolshevik forces. According to Capt. Macmillan he was promoted to be commissioner of life insurance and occupied the most handsome house in the town. Even the Bolshevik have declared to shun him.

In the square overlooking his house was placed a sign bearing the date of the execution.

BOY KILLED BY SHOT GUN AS HE

day Afternoon

HEAD IS BLOWN OFF

Jar of Hay Rake Accidentally Explodes Gun, Used for Hunting

Combining having and hunting proved fatal to Clifford Whitmer, thirteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Whitmer, Mandan, late Friday afternoon. The gun which he carried on his hay rake to kill rabbits and other small game, exploded and nearly blew his head off. The body lurched back against the rake-seat and the horses frightened by the sound of the shot gun ran away. Death was instant, but the body of the boy, caught firmly in the seat, remained on the rake until the horses were stopped by a clump of bushes.

Paul Eckroth, who was driving a rake behind Clifford, heard the gun explode and rushed to his comrade's assistance, but when he caught the horses the boy was dead and bleeding profusely. The shot almost tore his head off entering beneath the chin.

Gun Jarred

Both boys were employed by Brown & Frazer, hay contractors, and were working in the Missouri hay bottoms eleven miles north of Mandan and near Harmon, N. D. The contractors had left for Mandan shortly after 3 P. M. to secure parts for their machinery and instructed the boys to do the raking. When the contractors had left, Clifford, it is said, went to the camp and secured a 12-gauge shot gun and placed it on his rake intending to combine a little pleasure with the afternoons' routine in the hay field. It is believed that while making one of the turns or dumping the rake, the jar exploded the gun, the muzzle of which was pointed at the boy's head. Coroner Kennedy of Morton county investigated the accident in company with Mr. Elmer Whitmer, Friday evening. The funeral will be held Sunday at 3 P. M. from the Kennedy's undertaking parlors, Mandan.

COURT TO HEAR
MOTION ASKING
REMOVAL VOTENew Rockford Efforts to Get
Matter on Ballot This Fall

OTHER HIGH COURT CASES

The supreme court is to be asked to reopen the capital removal case. Cases and motions to be heard by the court in September, announced today, include a hearing on a motion to be made by attorneys for New Rockford to vacate the judgment rendered four years ago in which the court refused to order the question of removing the capital from Bismarck to New Rockford to go on the ballot.

Justice Robinson several weeks ago instructed the clerk to refuse to entertain a motion for the vacation of the judgment, but the matter appears on the new court calendar. The hearing is set for Sept. 7, the first on the fall calendar.

Among the other important cases on the docket is that of Laurens J. Wehe against the members of the Workmen's Compensation bureau. Judge Niesse, in district court held that Governor Frazier had not legally removed Wehe from the compensation board to vacate the judgment. The compensation board appealed the case. Wehe, though entitled to sit on the board under the court's decision, got a chilly reception when he first went to the bureau and has not made a forcible attempt to take his place. The case is set for Sept. 11.

The case of William Langer against the Fargo Courier-News for libel before the court for a ruling on demurrer, is set for Sept. 13.

The case of John Lechner vs. M. B. Flusset, appealed from Burleigh county, and the state of North Dakota vs. Frank Sibla, appealed from Morton county, will be heard on Sept. 14.

BRITISH TO WELCOME IT

Nominee Also Touches on Mexican Situation, Declaring U. S.
Will Not Be Weak-kneed

Marion, Ohio, Aug. 28.—Pronouncing the existing league of nations as a definite and irremedial failure, Senator Harding today proposed a new effort to construct a world association, founded on the same basis as the Hague tribunal, in so far as that may be found practical.

The front porch speech was made to Indiana Republicans, covering in detail the Republican nominee's position on foreign relations.

Senator Harding replied directly to the argument of his Democratic opponent, Governor Cox, and declared that the League issue has been met.

Points Out Difference
"The Democratic nominee has said he is in favor of going in, on the basis announced by the President. I am not, that is the whole difference, but it is an important difference, because it is the difference between a world court supplemented by a world association on the one hand against the conference of the League on the other hand."

The League has broken down on the first attempt in the Polish situation, and it has now passed beyond the possibility of restoration.

British Support
He quoted the British press to support the statement that such an alliance would be welcomed abroad. He asserted that a more detailed statement of the specifications was impossible in view of the rapidly changing world conditions.

Adoption of a peace resolution, he declared, would make quick and effective peace with separate negotiation with Germany.

Touching on the Mexican situation the Republican nominee said, "A plain notice should be given to every government on the face of the earth that the United States will submit to no wrong to its position, either in person or in property."

He also replied to charges of undue material influence, by saying that as president he would be as individualistic in that position as he had been as senator.

COX GETS WELCOME

New York, Aug. 28.—Governor Cox, standard bearer of the Democratic party, was showered with flowers when he stepped off his private car today on a two-day visit to New York. Arriving here from New Haven about an hour ahead of schedule the candidate found thousands of men and women massed in the terminal to greet him. As he left his train he was greeted by a committee of Democratic women. Proceeding down the platform he found the crew lined up to review his party and with each man from blue uniform to conductor to engineers in overalls the Governor shook hands.

Showered With Flowers
The real reason, however, came when Mr. Cox entered the rotunda. An aisle had been roped off across the floor. His route not only the main floor but galleries and the grand staircase thronged with men and women.

As the presidential nominee who, this afternoon, is to deliver an address reached the center of the hall prolonged cheering broke out.

Then came the rain of flowers. Governor Cox bowed to right and left and hat in hand made his way slowly across the floor. Now and then he would stop to shake hands with some admirer but he could not be induced to make a speech. Reaching his hotel he went at once to his room to prepare for the reception arranged in his honor at the National Democratic club on Fifth Avenue.

DISEASE VICTIM
SLEEPS 8 DAYS

Huron, S. D., Aug. 28.—George Heblon of this city is a victim of "sleeping sickness." He has been in a state of coma for eight days. At one time he stirred, and made as though he would open his eyes, but the change lasted only a moment. He then relaxed and has not moved since. His condition is said by attending physicians to be very grave and little hope is entertained for his recovery.

WILSON NAMES
DEMOCRAT FOR
CAMPAIGN POSTRepresentative Cantrill to Take Over Part of work of White

LATTER LOSES IN FAVOR

Washington, Aug. 28.—Establishment of Representative James C. Cantrill of Kentucky in New York in charge of organization for the democratic national committee in the campaign is declared by administration leaders here to have been accomplished at the dictation of President Wilson.

In assuming the democratic organization work for the entire country Representative Cantrill takes over a large portion of the job left by the national chairman, George White, who it is said is not in favor at the White House since he came to Washington and announced that the League of Nations would be the chief issue of Governor Cox's campaign. Mr. White, it is understood, still is the national chairman, but in Cantrill he will have at his elbow a man who will look after things from an administration standpoint.

Democratic Discord Seen
The president has surprised many democratic leaders by his long silence on Governor J. M. Cox's speech of acceptance, but they are now beginning to understand that all has not been running smoothly between the Wilson wing of the party and the Cox managers. The friction dating from the time Mr. White was made chairman of the national committee to succeed Governor Cox's campaign, staunch administration supporters. The president and his intimate advisers within the party are said to have been dissatisfied with the way things have been running in the party management ever since the campaign began, and particularly with the methods of organization in many of the states.

They insisted upon something being done, and the announcement from New York that Representative Cantrill had assumed charge of the party organization was the result.

Democrats Open Speakers' School
Before taking charge in New York, it has been learned, Representative Cantrill came to Washington and conferred with the president's intimate associates regarding campaign organization plans.

Many of the party orators now are mingling with the league doctrine, much to the displeasure of the president.

SLIGHT FARM DECREASE

Railroad Valuation Is Also Lowered Two Million Dollars
by State Board

Changes in valuations of city property, railroad property and farm lands were announced today by the state board of equalization. Briefly, they are:

Valuation of property for business purposes in eight of largest cities in state increased from ten to forty per cent.

Bismarck valuation of property used for business purposes increased 20 per cent.

Railroad valuation decreased from $218,000,000 to $216,000,000.

Farm lands decreased on average of about three per cent.

Farm land valuations in Burleigh county not changed.

The work of the state board is not entirely completed. Members of the board, which Governor Frazier is ex-officio chairman, have been considering valuations as returned by county boards of equalization for several days.

Heavily on Some Cities
The action of the board is making the heavy increase in city property valuation in picked cities was not expected, and was not done by unanimous action.

The decrease on farm lands was not as large as was expected. In view of the complaints made of representatives of nearly every county in the state at recent meeting against the present high taxes and valuations.

The total valuation of farm lands is decreased $38,004,034.00, from $1,072,633.90 in 1919 to $1,034,629.90 for 1920.

Rail Valuation Decreased

The railroad valuation is decreased from $218,000,000 to $216,000,000. Valuations of property for residence purposes was not changed, it was announced.

The cities in which the heavy increases over county board figures were made are Grand Forks, 40 per cent; Minot, 25 per cent; Fargo, 40 per cent; Jamestown, 25 per cent; Valley City, 15 per cent; Bismarck, 20 per cent; Mandan, 30 per cent; Dickinson, 10 per cent.

The total increases on structures and improvements of town and city lots used for business purposes in these cities is increased from $13,073,630 to $16,225,718.

Olsen's Opposition
State Treasurer O. Olsen, a member of the board, opposed this method of increasing city valuations. He held that it was not fair to single out certain cities and advocated an increase of something like 20 per cent in the first congressional district and 12-15 per cent in the second and leaving the third district unchanged.

The valuation of property in Bismarck for business purposes was placed at $1,070,808 by the county board and under the increase of the state board taxes will be paid on a valuation of $1,284,969. Mandan's valuation was fixed at $515,525 by the county board and increased to $670,182 by the state board. Dickinson's valuation was fixed at $46,821 by the county board and is increased to $60,123 by the state board.

The exact figures on the railroad valuation follow: 1919 assessment on $218,633,357 valuation, 1920, on $216,199,5 valuation.

The Great Northern valuation of $58,893,320 was unchanged, while the Northern Pacific valuation of $82,004,241 in 1919 was decreased to $80,350,000. The Soo line valuation of $37,415,826 was unchanged.

UNFAIR METHOD OF TOWNLEYISM ROUNDLY SCORED

Dr. Platou Says Attempt to Use
Religious Prejudice is Poor Americanism.

SUPPORTS MR. O'CONNOR

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 27.—The attempt of the newspaper published in the Norwegian language in Grand Forks by the Grand Forks American to stir up religious prejudice against J. F. T. O'Connor, a roundly scored by Dr. L. S. Platou, of Fargo, one of the leading leaders in the state.

Dr. Platou was one of the candidates for the Democratic endorsement for Governor at the Fargo convention May 19, but when a majority of the delegates declared in favor of the Grand Forks man he moved to make the nomination of O'Connor unanimous. At the meeting of the committee of twenty-one in Grand Forks in June he again stated that he was in favor of all the anti-Townley candidates as well as the whole Democratic ticket for national offices.

In reply to the stories printed in the League newspapers Dr. Platou today issued the following signed statement:

"My attention has been called to an article in the North Dakota Tidende, a Norwegian language weekly published by the Grand Forks American, purporting to show that I am opposing J. F. T. O'Connor for the governorship for religious reasons. Incidentally my progressive tendencies and attitude in the past is being used to convey the impression that I, in a measure, am favoring Townleyism.

Unfair Politics

"This imputation is a malicious misrepresentation. While a good many of us differ on religious questions, and while denominational affiliation, everything else being equal, may have some bearing upon individual preference as to candidates for public offices, it has been generally conceded that it is unfair politics and poor Americanism to throw questions of religion into a discussion of public measures and public men. I deplore very much that this has been done now, as I believe, for the first time in our state, and I regret still more that vituperative political writers should have tried to make me the carrier of their desires.

"My position as to candidates was plainly stated at the meeting of the committee of twenty-one at Grand Forks last month. I stand then, and I repeat now, that I stand for every anti-Townley candidate on the fusion state ticket and for every Democratic candidate from top to bottom.

Townleyism Not Progressive

"I have never supported Townleyism in its present form; no sane progressive can do that. I have opposed the nefarious and vicious political propaganda of the league leaders on the stump as well as in the narrow circle of private discussion, and I shall continue to do so.

"I believe in progressive reforms along constitutional lines, but I do not believe in constitutional upheavals such as contemplated in House Bill 44. I believe in better and more equitable rural credits legislation, but I do not believe in POLITICAL banking laws such as the enabling act for the Bank of North Dakota.

Fair Trial

"I believe in a fair trial of the real farmers' program, such as terminal elevators and flour mills, but I do not believe in the spoils system under which the League leaders are planning to go ahead and thereby inevitably make a miserable farce of the whole agrarian program.

"I believe that North Dakota needs a thorough revision of her tax legislation, but this cannot be done rightly in the slipshod, haphazard manner in which the League legislative bureau has gone about it under the guidance of Professor Royall. I believe above everything else that the future welfare of our state demands that all political dissensions be laid aside and that all parties unite on the one and only paramount issue, viz to crush Townleyism at the election next November."

SHOOTS THREE DUCKS; HUNTER PAYS $5 FINE

F. F. Clifford, from West Concord, pleaded guilty before Police Magistrate E. H. Howell of shooting three ducks, in violation of the state game laws, and was given a fine of $51.85.

Clifford and a friend were traveling through the country in a car, headed for Yellowstone park. They were caught shooting the ducks near Apple Creek, by Carl C. Moore, game warden there.

Magistrate Howell says that Clifford pleaded guilty of shooting ducks but continued talking and said, "I killed three ducks." The law states that the offender shall be fined $25 and costs for each and every bird killed. Clifford was accused of shooting only one duck.

U. S. WILL TAKE NO ACTION IN SUGAR PRICES

Statement of Government "Flying Squadron" Man is Disputed
By Palmer's Man.

FURTHER DROP IS SEEN

BY GEORGE B. WATERS
Washington, Aug. 27.—The Department of Justice will do nothing to keep the price of sugar up. It would be a violation of the Sherman Act and the Lever Law for it to do so. Furthermore, H. N. B. Floyd, who stated in New York that the government would help the wholesalers and refiners prevent a further tumble in prices, will be called up the carpet. He was unauthorized to make such an assertion.

This statement was made by Robert T. Scott, private secretary to Atty. Gen. Palmer. It was in regard to a statement of Floyd, a special agent of the department's New York "flying squadron," to run down profiteers. After attending a meeting of refiners and wholesalers in New York, Floyd stated that the government would assist the sugar dealers in preventing a further great drop in price.

Bottom Drops Out

The bottom has fallen out of sugar prices and a further decline seems certain.

A few days ago sugar was selling wholesale at 24 cents a pound, and one eastern refiner, who had ceased to operate on account of high prices, got an unexpected supply from Cuba and immediately dropped the price to 20 1/2 cents. Three western refiners followed suit and now sugar is retailing in many cities for 15 cents a pound.

The sudden drop caused a panic among the big sugar dealers and they hurriedly called a meeting. Floyd's statement followed.

"It's this department's business to lower prices, not help increase them," stated Scott.

The sharp decline in sugar prices is caused, principally, by large shipments of sugar received from Argentina, Czecho-Slovakia and other countries.

High prices in America caused sugar to flow here.

Also, up to July 15 the people had absorbed sugar at the rate of 100.92 pounds per year, as against the previous high record for 1919 of 80.43 pounds.

J. G. Weatherly, Department of Justice sugar expert, said this indicated the people had sugar stocks—about 35 pounds per family for the nation.

People Quit Buying

The people quit buying and now the supply is much greater than the demand.

"It has been called to the department's attention," said Scott, "that some refiners are holding customers to contracts made at high prices. If it is found that this is a violation of the Lever Law they will be prosecuted."

Another thing that broke the price was the fact that many canners and housewives refused to make preserves and jams at high prices.

PLANS DEVISED TO SPEED RAIL CAR OVEMENT

Minneapolis, Aug. 27.—Executives of railway lines having headquarters here today are making plans to carry out a program formulated by the advisory committee of the Association of Railway Executives designed to improve transportation and service.

The fast color and excellent wearing qualities will please the boys and mother too.

The program, outlined in a bulletin received here, maps out five specific methods for improvement of traffic conditions. They are:

- Increase of the daily minimum car movement to 30 miles.
- Increase of average loading to 30 tons a car.
- Reduction of bad order cars to a maximum of 4 per cent.
- Reduction in the number of locomotives unfit for service.
- More effective efforts to return cars to the roads owning them.

The program was promulgated by Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad and chairman of the advisory committee.

Twin City railroad executives say he program was practical and feasible, worked out by railroad men for their own use in giving the public the transportation service to which it is entitled.

Cut Restrictions

"A first step toward accomplishing this program will be to do away with some of the restrictions on car repainting, imposed during the railroad's administration control," Edmund Pennington, president of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie, said.

"The car repair committee of the railroad administration bowed to the demands of labor that no one be hired as a car repainter until he has finished a four-year apprenticeship in that craft. This has seriously hindered us. Northwestern lines have to have cars that are in shape to carry grain. We are getting cars today from railroads in all parts of the country, hundreds of them cars nowhere near as good as we must have out here. And when we are restricted in the men we employ to repair them, we have our difficulties multiplied."

"That attainment of an average loading of 30 tons will mean an additional daily freight movement of nearly 2,500,000 tons was Mr. Pennington's statement. He pointed out that 29 tons a car is about the present average loading and 2,500,000 cars the number in service on all United States railroads.

Rolling Stock in Bad Condition.

"An average of 4 per cent of cars in bad repair was the universal standard in this country before the railroad administration took over the roads," an official of the Northern Pacific railroad said. "So many cars got into bad condition that it has been impossible to bring the figure back to that point, but we shall do our best. The present average loading of cars is from 28 to 29 tons. I think the 30 ton load is a reasonable minimum towards which to work."

The bulletin issued by Mr. Willard calls on the shipper to offer help as well as the railroad executive.

"It is important," the bulletin says, "especially in times of car shortage, that the shippers should load cars as quickly as is economically possible and practicable after they are received. The shipper also should furnish prompt and definite billing instructions, and the instructions so furnished should take the car, if possible, to its ultimate destination."

"Much delay is caused by the practice of billing cars subject to reorder or reconsignment in transit, and numerous other devices that have come about from time to time. All arrangements of this kind serve to retard the movement of cars. All arrangements of this kind are in effect a special privilege aside from the service of transportation, and in times of car shortage such privileges are at the actual expense of those whose business is interfered with by cause of their inability to ship at all."

Roads to Report Daily Mileage.

Daily reports on the mileage movement of cars, the average loading and the number of cars in bad repair will be made by all railroads to the Association of Railway Executives, Mr. Pennington announced.

"An increase of only one mile on the average per day would be equivalent to enlarging the available supply of cars by 100,000," the bulletin says.

"According to reliable calculation," it reads, "the average freight car is actually in a train moving between one terminal and another only 2 1/2 hours out of 24 and is actually at the service of the shipper or receiver 8.8 hours out of 24. Notwithstanding this fact, the railroads have undertaken to increase the average daily freight car movement from 26.9 miles in 1918 to 30 miles. With the co-operation of the shipper this can be done."

"In 1917 an average movement of 29 miles was reached in May and there were two months when the average movement was slightly more than 28 miles. This achievement was under the stress of war. It is believed that by the extra efforts the railroads now are making this record can be surpassed under the demands of peace. Many railroads are giving the most energetic effort to increasing car movement. Some of them have, in a few weeks, accomplished substantial improvement by intensive effort."

CIVIL SERVICE TEST ANNOUNCED

The United States civil service commission has announced that examinations will be held at Bismarck from September 1 to 25 to consider applicants for a position as laborer in the custodian service.

The salary offered for this job is $600 a year, plus $240 bonus. Each male applicant will be tested to ascertain whether or not he is capable of shouldering and carrying with ease 125 pounds weight.

Application blanks and further details may be obtained from the clerk of the civil service commission at the federal building.

Make Awards Today

George Will, who has been judging the corn raised by the 40-acre corn clubs throughout the county, will make the awards late today. According to Mr. Will there is some very good corn in the county; much of it is out of danger from frost. He estimates that some of it will run 35 to 40 bushels to the acre.

WHISTLES BLOW CELEBRATION OF SUFFRAGE MOVE

Women Over Entire Nation Join in Rejoicing Today; Campaign Starts Here

The blowing of the whistle in Bismarck this noon was part of the nation-wide celebration being held today in confirmation of the ratification of the suffrage amendment.

Mrs. E. A. Hughes returned today from a trip lasting several months. During this time she was visiting in the east and talked with many suffrage workers in that part of the country. In Chicago she conferred with Mrs. McCormick and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, regarding plans for the organization of the 27,000,000 women voters of America for the coming election.

Speakers Coming Here
According to present plans a number of nationally prominent women speakers and workers will come to North Dakota between now and the November first and carry on a strenuous campaign for the education of the women of the state to the responsibility of their newly won citizenship.

This work together with the school of citizenship which the women's clubs over the state will conduct this fall, will inform the women of North Dakota of the duties and privileges of their position as voters of the land.

Wooded Under Romantic Circumstances — Actress Peeresses Becoming Quite Common

BY MILTON BRONNER
European Manager N. E. A.
London, Aug. 28.—Dan Cupid has just added to the ranks of English nobility another former stage beauty—the new Marchioness of Queensberry.

Three years ago, under romantic circumstances, she was wooed and won by the young Viscount Drumlanrig, who at the time was just of age.

Honorary Title
His title of viscount was more or less honorary, it being the handle given the eldest son of a marquis. There was little or no money in the family.

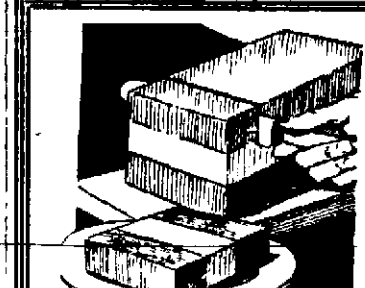

Furthermore, his father was only 48, so it seemed a safe bet that it would be years and years before his wife could wear the strawberry leaves or whatever golden tinsel it is that a marchioness puts on her hair on gala occasions.

And then the marquis died suddenly in Johannesburg, South Africa. The new marquis and marchioness are now traveling in South America. They have a one-year-old daughter.

The young husband was wounded severely during the war and afterwards had a post in the Food Ministry. His wife, Mrs. Irene Richards, daughter of a London mill-owner. She is not only pretty, but highly talented. She studied singing under Jean de Reszke. She got her first big chance on the stage when, after only three rehearsals, she took the star part in a play at the Prince of Wales Theater. She was only 15 when she took a leading part in "Theodore and Co."

Actress Peeresses are quite common over here.

Just to mention recent alliances of this nature: Miss Edie Carew of Daly's Theater married R. G. Winn in 1915. She is now Lady St. Oswald.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1873)

THE MAIN ISSUE.

During the pre-campaign days, it is just as well for the independent anti-Townley Republicans and Democrats to emphasize the fact that the political laundering in process in Nonpartisan league circles is not a material issue in the campaign. The charges and counter charges that issue forth daily between the Townley-Lemke faction and the Brinton-Waters coalition are not especially germane to the campaign. They do not involve any of the vital issues for which the campaign is to be waged in the interests of the fusion ticket. There is even a suspicion that some of the propaganda is a smoke screen to confuse the voters who are organized to fight socialism and to lead the defenders of decent government into the blind alleys of a purely personal feud between socialists who disagree as to how the patronage and the other spoils are to be distributed.

Townley and Lemke are seeking to give the people of the state the impression that Brinton and Waters have been adopted by the independent voters of the state interested in the success of the fusion ticket. The opposite is true. O'Connor and the men behind him are fighting Brinton and Waters and what they stand for just as vigorously as they are waging political warfare against Townley and Lemke. The personal quarrel between these men cannot by the very nature of things become a political issue. Brinton and Waters are merely reviving charges that were made upon the hustings during the primary campaign, adding to them personal grievances over financial matters which very remotely concern the fall campaign.

It is not of any vital public concern whether Jim Waters resigned or was kicked out. If he did not resign willingly, he left the post and to all outward appearances at least he gave the general impression that he had relinquished the office willingly and there was no public cry of forgery until Townley turned down his claim for $5,000, several months after the resignation now in controversy was made public.

These and other matters do not touch the vital issues of the campaign as outlined in the various platform preambles of the anti-Townley Republicans and Democrats. If Waters and his man Friday have evidence in their possession that Townley and Lemke violated any law, they should place the information before Attorney General Langer and such action should be taken as the evidence at hand warrants. To date one man has been arrested for criminal libel, while the men this person claims are forgers, embezzlers and worse are at large. It would seem the better public policy to arrest the major offenders first and take up the misdemeanors later.

If Brinton and Waters speak the truth, the attorney general is warranted in securing from them the information to base an arrest of Townley and Lemke. The arrest of Brinton, however, would indicate that the state is attempting to use that method to get sufficient evidence upon which to apprehend Townley and Lemke.

As the whole affair can hardly be threshed out until after the November elections, the case will continue to be tried in the press of the state for what political advantage the developments may have for either faction.

To the man in the street the whole affair as the story unfolds is looking more and more like a tempest in a tea-pot.

CLOUDS SCATTERING

Bankers, who sometime ago, predicted a strained credit situation this fall and winter, were, it now appears, unduly pessimistic. Money for the moving of crops is more plentiful than they thought.

"As a matter of fact," asserts the Wall Street Journal, "the opinion now prevails that a comfortable money market will obtain throughout the balance of the year."

This condition, bankers say, is the fruit of precautionary methods adopted last spring by the Federal Reserve authorities—plus the quick turn for the better of the railway patient. Had the car congestion continued tying up credits as well as commodities the worst fears of the banking fraternity might have been realized. Clearing railroad tracks of halted freight and reducing credit to speculators did the work. The clouds melted away.

Probably American business may not need another such lesson. It is to be hoped that never again will the arteries of trade be so clogged with unmoving cars and gamblers in necessities given such a warm welcome in the loans division of the banking houses. In other words, it were better to keep the clouds from forming.

Sir Thomas Lipton viewed the movies of the yacht races. Too bad they didn't run 'em backwards and show the Shamrock ahead.

Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic vice-presidential candidate not to be outdone by Cox declares that the United States would control twelve votes in the proposed league of nations. It is a matter of record that Great Britain votes six times to Uncle Sam's once. President Wilson's state department promptly disavows the optimism of Mr. Roosevelt which is proof that the campaign wires are badly crossed.

PAPER SUITS UNFIT HERE

Walter H. Burton, a Chicago woolen merchant, who returned from Europe last week, says that the paper suits made in Germany, which were apparently being boosted by certain officials of the administration in Washington, would be of no use in this country on account of the heat.

"During the long war," Mr. Burton continued, "the Germans had to fall back upon all kinds of materials to make clothing out of, as they had no wool or cotton to make cloth. Their manufacturers did wonders with paper. They made shirts, underwear of all descriptions, collars, caps, sheets, towels and bed coverings. The tablecloths in the hotels when I was in Germany three weeks ago were nearly all made of paper except at the Atlantic hotel, in Hamburg, which is owned by the Hamburg-American line and has been furnished from the supplies that were intended for the ships.

"The paper suits and underwear are all right to keep people warm in cold weather, but they are very trying in the summer, even in Germany, where the temperature is much lower than in New York and there is less humidity.

"The underwear and the shirts stick to one when they become soaked through with perspiration and have to be removed in pieces. The suits look O. K. until the rain comes, and then goodbye clothes. They shrink up and are likely to fall apart suddenly in a manner that causes confusion to the wearer. People who wear these paper suits have to take to shelter directly a shower comes on and wait until it is over, which might mean several hours."—New York Times.

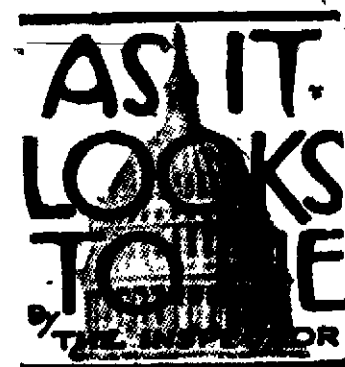

ALASKA HAS OPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Christy of Fremont, Ohio are visiting this week at the home of Charles B. Sampson of Boise, after spending two months in Alaska. Mr. Christy is enthusiastic over Alaska.

"It is a country of wonderful possibilities," he said. "I ate bread made from wheat raised in Alaska. The flour was ground there and I was reliably informed that wheat raising and flour making are to become great industries.

"Vegetation is wonderfully prolific. No irrigation is needed because by digging down two or three feet ice may be found anywhere. This furnishes subirrigation. The rich soil, the warm sun and the abundance of moisture combine to produce wonderful crops. I was shown dahlias 10 inches across. Vegetables of all kinds do well, and berries! I never saw such berries anywhere. They grow wild on all hands and canning factories are to be established to save them. The blueberries there have a flavor found nowhere else, a tart, snappy taste that raises them far above the insipid blueberries found in the states. Pies made of these are fit for the gods.

"Opening up of the government railroad into interior Alaska will be followed by tremendous development. Alaska is to become famous as an agricultural country. There are also great deposits of coal not only in the south but in the central parts of the territory."—Idaho Statesman.

Washington, Aug. 28.—George Creel, former head of the Bureau of Public Information, has been "called down" again for giving out misinformation.

In his recent book reciting Uncle Sam's efforts and accomplishments in the war, Creel gave credit to former Secretary of Treasury McAdoo for having first conceived the idea of government soldiers and sailors insurance.

This claim caught the eye of former Secretary of Commerce William C. Redfield. Redfield's red sideburns bristled as he read. He buzzed for his stenographer and dictated a scolding letter to Creel.

That idea, he said, was born in the Department of Commerce, and not in the treasury building. If Creel would look at the Official Bulletin, Creel's own bureau publication, for such and such a date in May, 1917, he would find that the suggestion was first made by Edwin F. Sweet, assistant secretary of commerce and not by McAdoo. Please shoot an order to the publisher at once to make correction in the next—if there should chance to be any next—edition of the book Creel looked new and submitted.

The next edition if there is a next will credit Sweet and not McAdoo with the insurance idea.

HEALTH ADVICE

BY UNCLE SAM, M. D.

ARTERIO-SCLEROSIS
Arterio-sclerosis is the doctor's name for hardening of the arteries. The blood is pumped around by the heart, and sent to all parts of the body through a set of tubes that grow smaller and smaller the further away from the heart they go. These tubes or blood-vessels which carry blood from the heart are called arteries. The blood is brought back to the heart from all parts of the body through another set of tubes or blood vessels called veins. These two sets of tubes, the arteries and the veins, are very much alike in the way they are built, but not altogether. They are like two sets of rubber tubes the arteries being the heavier and stronger and more elastic tubes.

Remember—elastic. A thing that is elastic can be stretched and will spring back to its former size and shape when the stretching is stopped. The first thing one thinks of when elastic is mentioned, is rubber. Now, everybody knows that new rubber is more elastic than old rubber; also that good elastic rubber will become worn and spoiled by usage and by time; also, that there is a right way to use rubber to make it remain elastic longer, and a wrong way to use it (to abuse it) and so wear it out faster.

These facts are true also about the elastic blood-vessels the arteries. When a healthy child is born it has brand new, soft and elastic arteries also grow older, and gradually lose their elasticity so that when old age is reached, the arteries are normally stiffened and hardened. That is to say, arterio-sclerosis is natural to old age.

Some people get arterio-sclerosis long before they are old enough to have it naturally, and that is either because they inherited bad material for the arteries from their ancestors, or because they abused the perfectly good ones with which they started life.

Diseased arteries cause serious trouble to the heart and kidneys. Such arteries, as they become stiff and

CLOTHES DO NOT MAKE ACTRESSES, EXPLAINS STAR OF THE ACQUITTAL

Clothes do not make an actress any more than harness makes a horse, although they are a mighty necessary adjunct, according to Harriet Mayfield, the charming comedienne in Geo. M. Cohan's production of Rita Weisman's new American drama, "The Acquittal" which will be seen at the Auditorium theatre next Tuesday evening, Aug. 31.

Miss Mayfield says it is absolutely useless for a girl to seek a position on the stage unless she has clothes, and what is more, knows how to wear them. She may have looks, but either one or both are not sufficient. Many girls have begun careers before the footlights with wonderful promises to success because of their ability, and have failed to reach the heights, simply from the fact that they did not know how to dress. Clothes are like the weather, very changeable.

The styles of one season are antiquated before one realizes it and woe be to the actress who does not keep up with them. "It is really one of the essential parts of the business," says Miss Mayfield, "to keep in touch with the fashions." In other words, every actress has to be a slave to the whims of the modistes. Then again one must know how to wear them. That is as essential as the selection of them. Unless the actress has that almost indefinable art which is lost, it matters not whether the dress be expensive, the wearer should know how to carry it.

hard, also become brittle, and so may be easily broken. The most serious effect of such a break is when it happens to a blood-vessel in the brain, so causing an attack of apoplexy, or what is commonly called "a stroke." In most cases "a stroke" kills the patient. If he gets over the stroke, he generally remains paralyzed.

While a person cannot help having inherited bad arteries, he can often help a good deal in preventing the early wearing out and becoming diseased of the arteries that he has, and so put off premature old age and much serious disease. He can also prevent his children from inheriting bad arteries from him.

EVERETT TRUE

Five Hundred Million Brain Cells Responsive to the Call of Ruler of the Intellect.

On a rough estimate, the brain contains 500,000,000 cells, each having a consciousness of its own. Your self-consciousness, your personality, should be the master of all these willing slaves.

They are the geni of the mind, humbly waiting to do your bidding; guardians of the vast stores of ideas that you, more often than not without realizing it, have gathered along life's highway. Are you one of the reckless kind, who have "no idea," or are you in the ranks of the sensible, who summon the spirits of the intellect to their aid?

How is this done? Nothing more simple. Get the problem fairly and squarely into your head, and then forget it! The little geni of the brain refuse to be coerced; humor them, however, and there is no limit to what they can, and will, do for you. You have to make a decision. Turn the problem round and round in your head till you are giddy, you will get no nearer to the solution. Put it away from you. Don't force your thoughts; leave them alone, and behold, suddenly, when you least expect it, the idea you have been searching for will jump into your mind, to be instantly recognized as the idea you wanted.

The magicians of the brain would appear to be more amenable to feminine than masculine rule, for the provers of all nations agree that women's best ideas are her first ones, while men have to wait for second thought if he would act rightly.

Our search for ideas, too, must be systematic if we want to get hold of useful ones.

According to the Platonic philosophy, ideas are the universal types of which individual specimens are the more or less imperfect copies; so that we need not be downhearted if we cannot carry out our ideas in practice exactly as they occur to us in the mind.

Thought grows snowball fashion, and is the opposite to money.

The more we spend the more we have.—London Answers.

Good Causes and Poor Tunes.

Mr. Bernard Shaw, who has fallen foul of "The Red Flag," which he regards as an air that would ruin any movement, seems to forget that many a good cause has been supported by a poor tune. The Belgian national anthem is a remarkably inane melody but that did not impair the resistance of Liege. And neither the words nor music of "God Save the King," are particularly uplifting. The air of "Lillibulero," that is said to have whistled James II off the throne of England, cannot have been a very distinguished one, for nowadays no one seems to know what it was. On the other hand the Russian national anthem was easily one of the most stirring examples of its kind in Europe, but it did not save Russia from collapse. If the Soviets have provided a substitute for it the result would probably please Mr. Shaw as little as "The Red Flag," which he considers should be rechristened "The Eternal March of a Fried Egg."—Manchester Guardian.

Thinks Earth Will Last Many Years.

In a recent lecture Sir Oliver Lodge, the eminent English scientist, announced that the earth would probably continue to exist for 20,000,000 years more. These are, of course, round numbers. Some scientists estimate that the earth will live for ten times this age. There have been animals of one kind and another on this planet for fully this length of time. The dinosaurs are believed to have lived through some such period. The age of man, which is probably only a few thousand years, seems the merest trifle by comparison. When we consider how man has developed during recorded history, which is less than ten thousand years, we may hope that he will evolve to an infinitely finer type in the future.—Boys' Life.

Carry Photo Messages in Eyes.

Spies, engaged in a life-and-death business, have devised extraordinarily ingenious methods of concealment since history began. No means could be more remarkable, however, than that used by the Russian bolsheviks for getting messages through the enemy lines. The inside skin of an eggshell is parted on glass, and reduced with a microtome knife to almost impalpable thinness. It is then sensitized, and a microscopic message photographed upon it. Removed from the glass, it is spread with a brush on the spy's eyeball, under the lid. It does not inconvenience the carrier, and being quite transparent it is practically invisible.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Film Quickly Developed.

Sixty rolls of photographic film handled in ten minutes' actual working time is the claim made for a system of glazed stoneware developing tanks now on the market, according to Popular Mechanics Magazine. The tanks are sold in sets of three, one for developing, one for fixing and one for washing. Each has a concave bottom, terminating in a brass drain cock. The last or washing tank is fitted also with an overflow connection, to permit continuous water circulation from bottom to top.

BALKANS NEED NEW DON QUIXOTE TO PREVENT ANOTHER WAR OUTBREAK

Belgrade, Aug. 28.—What the Balkans now need to prevent new wars is a man of strong personality and of charitable tendencies or a humorous Don Quixote, according to Premier Vesnitch, of Jugoslavija.

Whether it is within the compass of human intelligence to prevent the present war tendencies the next few weeks will show. The broader aspect of the situation is that for Central Europe or the Balkan countries to become a great battlefield will be playing into the hands of the Bolshevik agents who are believed to be working industriously in each country circulating war rumors and fomenting quarrels for which there are already too many reasons.

That the Jugoslav government certainly does not want war with any other country The Associated Press is authorized to state from a high authority. It was pointed out that the Jugoslav got all they could possibly hope for by the peace treaties in territories from Hungary and Bulgaria, and a new war might set back the infant nation. But they are determined to have Flume the people make loud protestations that their army can master the Italian army. The Jugoslav army, they say, is regarded by outsiders as being in good shape with 300,000 fresh troops ready. The word has been passed for mobilization of the peasants as soon as the harvests are in at the end of July.

Waiting for Signal

What the Jugoslavians do, it appears here, will be the signal for the Hungarians to jump after Transylvania and Slovakia and later to attempt to retake the enormously fertile Balcans from the Serbs.

Riding south from Budapest into old Serbia the correspondent found few evidences to the eye of war preparedness on either side of the frontier, yet all the peasants were receiving notices of mobilization. The Hungarians now within the Serbian frontier appeared to be nearbroken that they must belong to a country whose people they regard as of a culture lower than their own. They also complain they are unable to obtain passports to visit their friends in New Hungary.

While the Jugoslavians are said to be unafraid of war, yet they realize they occupy a perilous position with respect to international political dissections, as well as concerning what the Bulgars and Greeks might do in case the Jugoslavians made war on the Balkans.

Not counting the Hungarians, who are not believed in American circles, were that the Serbs and Bulgars will reach an understanding for common action. However, regarding the Spalato incident it is believed it is shown the Italians started the trouble the Jugoslavians will insist strongly on an indemnity.

A crowd of Croats attacked Italian naval officers at Spalato, July 11 and killed an Italian commander and several sailors.

A trip through the city streets convinces one that all is quiet. Citizens generally deny any war madness. During the recent celebration of King Peter's birthday no demonstrations of a war nature occurred during the large parade.

Premiers Request

The premier, prior to the celebration, issued a request to the people asking them to refrain from unfriendly acts and to allow the government to handle the affairs with Italy. He made a speech in Parliament of the same tenor, stating he was willing to abide the investigation by the American naval authorities regarding the Spalato incident.

The recent British loans and reports of a good harvest have improved the dinar exchange, the dollar being worth 16 to 17 as against 20 to 30 a few months ago. Prices, however, are high, meals in hotels costing from one to two American dollars.

Cheap shoes may be purchased at from 20 to 25 American dollars. American people are selling foodstuffs to Austria and to the Poles and Czechs, but otherwise no real business is going on, owing to the adverse exchange rate preventing buying abroad and the demand of merchants for credit which few are willing to extend.

The first equestrian statue in the United States was that of General Jackson in Washington, erected in 1853.

Only 75 men in the army and navy, during the late war received the congressional medal of honor.

Paris has more equestrian statues than any other city in the world.

Presses for shaping and cutting metal first came into use in 1841.

BEAR HEAVY LOAD

Some of the Trials of Present-Day Executives.

Man Who Complained That There Were No Efficient People in the World Had Some Excuse for His Bitterness—Trouble Is Moral.

Several years ago, when I had just been promoted to my first real job, I called on a business friend of mine. He is a wise and experienced handler of men. I asked him what suggestions he could make about executive responsibility, writes Bruce Barton in the Red Book.

"You are about to make a great discovery," he said. "Within a week or two you will know why it is that executives grow gray and die before their time. You will have learned the bitter truth that there are no efficient people in the world."

I am still very far from admitting that he was right, but I know well enough what he meant. Every man knows, who has ever been responsible for a piece of work or had to meet a pay roll.

Recently another friend of mine built a house. The money to build it represented a difficult period of saving on the part of himself and his wife. It meant overtime work and self-denial, and extra effort in behalf of a long-deshed dream.

One day when the work was well along he visited it, and saw a workman climbing a ladder to the roof with a little bunch of shingles in his hands. "Look here," the foreman cried, "can't you carry a whole bundle of shingles?"

The workman regarded him sullenly. "I suppose I could," he answered, "if I wanted to build the job."

By "build the job" he meant "do an honest day's work."

At 10 o'clock one morning I met still another man in his office in New York. He was munching a sandwich and gulping a cup of coffee which his secretary had brought in to him.

"I had to work late last night," he said, "and meet a very early appointment this morning. My wife asked our maid to have breakfast a half hour early so that I might have a bite and still be here in time."

"When I came down to breakfast the maid was still in bed."

She lives in his home and eats and is clothed by means of money which his brain provides; but she has no interest in his success, no care whatever except to do the minimum of work.

"The real trouble with the world to-day is a moral trouble," said a thoughtful man recently. "A large proportion of its people have lost all conception of what it means to render an adequate service in return for the wages they are paid."

He is a generous man. On almost any sort of question his sympathies are likely to be with labor, and so a mine I am glad that men work shorter hours than they used to and in certain instances I think the hours should be even shorter. I am glad they are paid higher wages, and hope they may even still more.

But there are times when my sympathy goes out to those in whose behalf no voice is ever raised—to the executives of the world, whose hours are limited only by the limit of their physical and mental endurance; who carry not merely the load of their own work but the heartbreaking load of carelessness and still indifference in so many of the folks whom they employ.

Perhaps the most successful executive in history was that centurion of the Bible.

"For I am a man of authority, having soldiers under me," he said. "And I say to this man, go, and he goeth; and to another, come, and he cometh; and to my servant, do this, and he doeth it."

Marvelous man!

The modern executive also says "Go" and too often the man who should have gone will appear a day or two later and explain, "I didn't understand what you meant." He says, "Come," and at the appointed time his telephone rings and a voice speaks, saying, "I overslept and will be there in about three-quarters of an hour."

Sugar Hog Punished.

A man who came out of the drizzling rain into a Cincinnati lunch room late at night and ordered a cup of coffee and two rolls, complained when he got check for 14 cents, saying that the bill of fare said that coffee was 6 cents and rolls 4 cents. The proprietor explained that there was a charge of four cents, because the man, sweetening his coffee, was too free with the receptacle that discharged one spoonful of sugar when inverted. "I watched you," the proprietor said. "You dumped five spoonfuls of sugar in your coffee."

Planting Trees on Prairies.

In order to demonstrate to farmers on the prairies the advisability and feasibility of planting trees on the prairies of the West, the Canadian Forestry association is sending a demonstration car on a tour of the three western provinces. A railway coach is being fitted up with a moving picture outfit, lecture hall, and a miniature nursery. The car will travel over the bulk of the western railway lines.

Czecho-Slovakia.

The new republic of Czecho-Slovakia has an area of between 60,000 and 60,000 square miles and a population of 12,500,000.

PRICILLA DEAN

Pricilla Dean, another of the popular "movie" stars, a short time ago the winner of a beauty contest conducted on the western coast, has been in the pictures but three years. She has risen steadily until today she ranks among America's leading moving picture stars.

HEAD-ON-THE-HAND PICTURE.

When he had his picture taken with his head upon his hand, Billy—he was looking something grand! He had started in to college and was tagged for father's trait. Or some other great achievement quite as wonderful as that. So we were impressed with Billy and were proud to beat the band. When he had his picture taken with his head upon his hand.

That is, all we kids felt that way. Father seemed to like it less. For he said, "Good Lord!" when shown it, and he seemed in deep distress.

Mother grinned a bit and giggled, and somehow it wasn't joy.

Of the kind we had expected, for the honor of her boy.

And she said, "Remember, father! To recall MY picture taken with my head upon my hand!"

About Advertising.

Advertising is what nothing was ever sold without.

If a loaf of bread is sold to a tramp who managed to glom onto a dime, it had been advertised by the tramp's hunger and by somebody who told the "dime" where the bakery was.

Or by the wimp of the bakery itself.

There isn't a human being who doesn't believe in advertising.

If it really doesn't, he had better commit suicide.

And that will give him a lot of publicity that nobody can cash in on.

The man who claims not to believe in advertising is a well, let somebody else say it.

This book is anxious for everybody to tell other people that his place is a good one to trade.

But he won't give the advertiser anything for telling the other folks.

He is a something-for-nothing tightwad.

The man who puts on good clothes advertises his own respectability, and expects results in the shape of the respect of others.

The man who dresses poorly because of necessity or purposely, advertises his poverty and expects results in other people's help or contempt.

In fact, every honest person wants advertising.

Only dishonest people are afraid of it, and they get it anyway.

CROSBY'S KIDS

"This is like George Weston's impromptu Mrs. John. What does he know about women? Ain't even married."

"That ain't no argument," said the fitness driver, "maybe he knows too all fired much about 'em to get married."

Thorough Job of Destruction.

William Funk, a truckman at Winsted, Conn., trying to sell at auction a wagon which cost him $350 several years ago found that nobody would bid more than $5 for it. Rather than sell it to anybody at that price, he took the wagon to the city dump, pulled it to pieces, threw the bolts in various directions, made a pile of the wheels placed the rest of the wagon on top, sprinkled kerosene all over the heap, set it afire, and left the dump satisfied that no one would get his wagon for a song.

EVENTS AND GOSSIP FOR THE FANS

ROGER HORNSBY HAS NEW RIVAL FOR HIT HONOR

Nicholson of Pittsburgh Climbs Up Steadily on the St. Louis Star

SISLER IS BATTING .401

Chicago, Aug. 28.—George Sisler, St. Louis' star first baseman, who hit consistently in 21 consecutive games before he was stopped recently, continued to top the list of American league batters who have participated in fifty or more games, according to averages released today, and which include games of last Wednesday. Sisler is batting for an average of .401. Tris Speaker, the Cleveland manager, suffered a further slump in his batting in the past week but continues to be the runner-up to the St. Louis star with an average of .394. "Babe" Ruth, the home run king of baseball, who was tied with Joe Jackson with whom he was tied, went into a batting slump and dropped away from Jackson with whom he was tied last week for third place. Jackson is hitting .380 while the New Yorker is batting .376. Ruth bagged two home runs since the last averages were compiled and his string was strengthened to 44. He continued to lead in runs scored with 132 and a total bases of 312.

Rice of Washington failed to add to his total of stolen bases, but continued on in front with 45 thefts. Other leading batters: E. Collins, Chicago, .356; Meusel, New York, .353; Rice, Washington, .348; Jacobson, St. Louis, .345; Weaver, Chicago, .343; Hendryx, Boston, .340; Judge, Washington, .335; Earl Smith, St. Louis, .330; Miller, Washington, .327; Salech, Chicago, .325; Jamieson, Cleveland, .324; Cobb, Detroit, .322.

Nicholson of Pittsburgh is giving Roger Hornsby of St. Louis a hard run for batting honors in the National league. The Pittsburgh outfielder has batted himself to within four points of the St. Louis star, who is topping the list with an average of .367. Nicholson's mark is .363. A week ago Nicholson passed Roush of Cincinnati for third place and in the past week he added 22 points to his average stepped ahead of Eays of Boston, who now is third place with .349, while Roush continues in fourth place with .335. Hornsby is batting .352, and has worked into a tie with Roush of New York in the number of runs scored. Each has registered 76 times.

Cy Williams of Philadelphia for the second week failed to add to his home run total, but is well in the lead with 13 circuit drives. Max Carey of Pittsburgh tacked on three stolen bases the past week and is showing the way with 45 thefts.

Other leading batters: Stock, St. Louis, .330; Young, New York, .326; Kins, New York, .323; Konetchy, Brooklyn, .320; J. Smith, St. Louis, .318; Hollocher, Chicago, .318; Duncan, Cincinnati, .316; Williams, Philadelphia, .316; Myers, Brooklyn, .312; Wheat, Brooklyn, .312.

The Home-Run Honor. Bunty Brief of Kansas City has batted himself up among the leaders again, and continued his tie for home run honors with Hargrave of St. Paul. Both cracked out three circuit drives in the past week and brought their totals to 19. The pair is also tied for total base honors with 246. Hargrave is out in front in runs scored, however, with 90 tallies to his credit. Rapp of St. Paul leads the base stealers with 37.

Grover Hartley of Columbus, tops the batters who had played in fifty or more games with an average of .351.

Other leading batters: Hargrave, St. Paul, .340; Wickland, Toledo, .334; Roush, New York, .333; Good, Kansas City, .330; Rehg, Indianapolis, .328; Wade, Minneapolis, .327; Hyatt, Toledo, .320; Brief, Kansas City, .318; Berghammer, St. Paul, .317; Tincup, Louisville, .316.

BLIND GIRL FAN OF NEW YORK FOLLOWS BASEBALL BY SOUNDS

Knows Ruth's Homers by Crack of Bat, Thoroughly Enjoys Games and Rarely Asks Questions

BY JAMES HENLE.

New York, Aug. 28.—Ball one. Thirty thousand pairs of eyes are fixed upon Babe Ruth as he stands at the plate in the Polo Grounds. Then a strike! Another ball is on its way to the catcher's mitt, but—Babe's bat has met it with a solid crash and the ball speeds on its way over the grandstand in right field. Before anyone else, a young girl wearing black spectacles has sensed what has happened. She leans over the box, leading the cheers.

The girl is Mildred Harris, daughter of Charles K. Harris who wrote "After the Ball," which has been sung in every corner of the earth to which Americans have penetrated. She has never seen Babe Ruth, though she is at the Polo Grounds three or four times a week. She has never seen her father. She is an ardent baseball fan, and follows the games as intelligently and as closely as many persons who have their eyesight.

Different Sound. "A safe hit has a sound entirely different from a foul or an easy grounder," she explains. "As for Babe Ruth's homers, they have a sound all of their own, and they are the sweetest music I have ever known."

Before the game Ruth was introduced to her by Miss Harris, who, like all the other Yanks, considers Miss Harris a mascot. Miss Harris wished Babe good luck.

"Your father will tell you if I get a homer," he said.

"Oh, he won't have to do that," she replied. And he didn't.

Before each game her father reads to Miss Harris the lineup of the two opposing teams. That is all. Then he sits back and enjoys the game.

His daughter is fully capable of following what happens through the sound of bat and ball and mitt and through the umpire's decisions. It is player who wears glasses. A Jersey City third baseman and a New York semi-pro catcher use them.

VANITY'S GHOST. New York, Aug. 28.—All that remains of the once gay Vanity is the empty hull. It is heached at City Island, where her ghost makes a tempting morsel for bidding junkmen.

NOT FOR WOMEN. San Francisco, Aug. 28.—A wrestling match here between two women failed to arouse much enthusiasm. The referee called it a draw, being a student of Gladstone's diplomatic school.

WAS HE SLY? Columbus, Aug. 28.—After the umpire had thrown out two dozen balls and delayed the game a couple of hours he decided that Pitcher Danforth of the Hens wasn't doctoring the ball.

SCHOOL COACHES. Chicago, Aug. 28.—There are 165 students enrolled in the school for coaches here this summer. They come from 29 different states. Most of them hold coaching jobs in small schools.

Oeschger's Wildness Loses. Pittsburgh, Aug. 28.—Pittsburgh defeated Boston, 8 to 1. Oeschger was unsteady, passing one man with the bases full and sending another in with a wild pitch.

Boston, .000 000 100—1 7 2

the rarest thing for her to have to ask a question.

Keen Memory. Who is up next, who is on base, how many are out, how many runs have been scored—all this Miss Harris keeps in her mind by means of her marvellously retentive memory.

Of course, Miss Harris is a New York rooter. She thinks both the Yanks and the Giants have good chances to win this year, but she warns the Giants that they must win and not divide the double-headers and the Yankees must form the habit of winning consistently, instead of in spurts.

Baseball First. Miss Harris cares for no other sports, but she is so fond of baseball that she refused to go to the country this summer, even though her father promised to bring her to the city for one game each week. In the winter she has her books and her studies, but during the baseball season they take second place.

NATIONAL LEAGUE Reds Pull Up. Cincinnati, Aug. 28.—The Giants pulled the Reds out of first place yesterday by winning the first game of a doubleheader. In 17 innings, 6 to 4. Both teams hit freely at the start and the score was tied at the end of the sixth, after which Fisher and Neft pitched brilliantly until the seventh, when the visitors scored two runs on singles by Young and Kelly and a double by Doyle. Both pitchers went the full distance and their support was very fast. The second game went only five innings and was called on account of darkness, neither side having scored.

In the second game Crane and King indulged in a fist fight at second base when the Red shortstop claimed that King interfered with his attempt at a double play. The players of both teams rushed to the scene and King was knocked down, but Umpire Rigler prevented serious injury to any of the athletes. Neither man was put out of the game.

"FLYING FINN" WINS MARATHON

HANNES KOLEHMAINEN

Antwerp, Belgium, Aug. 28.—When Hannes Kolehmainen won the classic marathon for Finland in the Olympic games it was almost like an American victory. The "Flying Finn" lives in Brooklyn, N. Y., but was unable to run for Uncle Sam because he had not taken out U. S. citizenship papers. Kolehmainen showed more speed and stamina at Antwerp than he did eight years ago when he was winner of three championships in the Stockholm Olympiad. He finished the 26 miles and 385 yards in the remarkable time of 2:32:35.4-5, in the mud and rain, breaking the old Olympic record by 4 minutes.

Pittsburgh, 102 041 000—8 12 0 Batteries: Oeschger and O'Neill; Cooper and Schmidt.

Phillies Win in Second. St. Louis, Aug. 28.—Philadelphia defeated St. Louis, 3 to 2. Bunched hits off Schupp in the first two innings accounted for the three runs. The locals hit Meadows hard, but failed in the pinches.

Philadelphia 210 090 000—3 9 0 St. Louis 010 000 001—2 13 1 Batteries: Meadows and Wheat; Schupp, Haines and Dillhoefer, Clemmons.

AMERICAN LEAGUE Mays Wins Again. New York, Aug. 28.—New York won a twelve-inning game from Chicago, 6 to 5. Mays was hit hard in the first two innings, while it took the Yankees four frames to overcome the three-run lead. Cicotte and Mays then pitched tight ball until the ninth, when the visitors tied the count on three hits. Both teams scored in the tenth. In the Yankee's half of the twelfth Ruel tied off with his third hit, went to second on Quinn's sacrifice and scored on Peckinpaugh's hit.

Score: R. H. E. Chicago 120 000 001 100—5 16 1 New York 101 200 000 101—6 12 0 Cicotte, Wilkinson, Kerr and Schaik; Mays, Quinn and Ruel.

Indians Quit Losing. Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—Cleveland defeated Philadelphia, 15 to 3, hitting safely in each inning except the sixth and totalling 21 hits.

Score: R. H. E. Cleveland 034 110 024—12 21 0 Philadelphia 000 101 001—3 8 5 Dabhy and O'Neill; Naylor, Bigbee, Slappey and Perkins.

Browns Come From Behind. Boston, Aug. 28.—St. Louis rallied in the eighth, tied the eighth yesterday, then the score after two were out and then won from Boston, 6 to 5. In the ninth when Davis led off with a triple and Billings, who ran for him, scored the winning run on an infield out.

St. Louis 200 000 301—6 10 1 Boston 100 011 200—5 9 0 Davis, Shockey and Severeid; Pennock, Karr and Walters.

Senator Beat Tigers. Washington, Aug. 28.—Oceata kept Detroit's hits well scattered while Washington bunched safeties off Ehmkke in two innings yesterday and won 3 to 1.

Score: R. H. E. Detroit 000 010 000—1 11 3 Washington 012 000 003—3 6 3 Ehmkke and Stange; Acosta and Garrity.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION Brewers Win. Milwaukee, Aug. 28.—McSweeney held Indianapolis to three hits and Milwaukee won, 3 to 1, making it three out of four for the locals. Hits by Cooney and Butler coupled with an error by Jones and a double steal accounted for two Milwaukee runs in the first.

Score: R. H. E. Indianapolis 010 000 000—1 8 2 Milwaukee 201 000 003—3 7 0 Jones and Helting; McSweeney and Ulrich.

BISMARCK HORSES IN PURSE MONEY

Two Bismarck-owned horses are making good records in fair races on Iowa tracks. Iva Knight won the 2:25 pace at Mason City in 2:14½ and Flying Patchen won second money in the 2:17 pace in which the winner's time was 2:11½. The horses are owned by Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Bryan. Mrs. Bryan is directing the racing of the horses.
